Helping Mail Get Through to Santa

When Madeira needed its Letters to Santa mailbox re-designed, City of Madeira staff member Barb Griffin reached out to Madeira High School's (MHS) art teacher for help.

MHS art teacher Jill Dulgeroff ran a contest with her Art Club students to create a new design. The completed entries were sent back to Barb who had Madeira Parks and Recreation Department members chose the winner. MHS junior Ceana Crompton's design was selected for the re-vamp.

The mailbox was delivered to Madeira High School at the end of October. Although the design was Ceana's, several students helped her paint the mailbox during club meetings until November 12 when it was picked up.

"Art has always been a part of my life---whether it be through music, anime, video games, or design," the mailbox design artist stated. "I'm going to pursue an art degree, so I thought to take the opportunity to show my skills!"

Ceana dedicated the mailbox, which is now located outside the front door of Madeira City Hall at 7141 Miami Avenue, to her younger siblings Addie, Kyra, and Zeke.
